

An Exhibition of Oil Paintings by Derek Hare

In June, artist Derek Hare will be exhibiting a collection of oil paintings in St Mary-at-Hill.

Derek's paintings depict maritime subjects, either coastal or along the River Thames.

St Mary-at-Hill Church is a place of peaceful solace in the City of London for people who live and work nearby, so do come, see the paintings and enjoy this wonderful building.

"Thames From Petersham"

As a professional artist for over 50 years, Derek Hare is known for his seascape paintings from different parts of the world such as Portugal, Germany, Sweden, Norway, Seychelles, India and the Bahamas, as well as UK. His style is well recognised amongst collectors and identified by the importance he places on skies and atmospheric effects.

Derek Hare is a Fellow of The Royal Society of Arts and many of his paintings can be found in large corporate and private collections as well as being represented by Fine Art Publishers, in books and other publications.

Exhibition at St Mary-At-Hill Church

June 5th – 10th 2017

Free Admission

For further information contact info@derekhare.co.uk or visit the website www.derekhare.co.uk